THE POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEWER

Volume XXI Spring 1992

Notes on Contributors iii

SYMPOSIUM: MORALITY, POLITICS, AND LAW IN THE THOUGHT OF MICHAEL OAKESHOTT

Timothy Fuller
An Introduction: Michael Oakeshott's Achievement 1

Paul Franco
Oakeshott's Critique of Rationalism Revisited 15

Robert Orr
A Double Agent in the Dream of Michael Oakeshott 44

David Mapel
Purpose and Politics: Can There Be a Non-Instrumental Civil Association? 63

Richard B. Friedman
What Is a Non-Instrumental Law? 81

Wendell John Coats, Jr.
Some Correspondence Between Oakeshott's "Civil Condition" and the Republican Tradition 99

Horst Mewes
Modern Individualism: Reflections on Oakeshott, Arendt, and Strauss 116

REVIEWS

Bruce Frohnen
Robert Bellah and the Politics of "Civil" Religion 148

Dennis G. Stevens
On Charles Beard's Constitution 219

Alex Aichinger
The Court and the Temptations of Politics 238

Edward McLean
Candid in Camera: The Legal Writings of Justice Richard Neely 265